

sacrifice = good for you, bad for me

Anna Karenina (book) = selfishness vs. sacrifice = nobody believes in sacrifice, selfishness is better

Levin's brother, lies = around when Tolstoy has moral crises → Anna & Serizhen, values shift

Last page = crystal clear, changed his mind / importance

Vasyanka = sacrifice looks bad, fake because trying to hide from own feelings (envy of other's happiness)

Main idea = adultery = what not to do, what to do is don't spread love? puts up w/ Kitty,

Ideal marriage, some selfishness ^{85%} some sacrifice ^{15%}, is ALot of selfishness, some sacrifice [↑]
↳ someone you like, sex, relation vs. depression

Seeing Levin after marriage, more selfish difference between being a person, and being willing to sacrifice for them

Levin almost always selfish - the more book, farming importance of the laborer, ^{values to invade} plows ^{just like naturalism - must}

Sviyazhsky (Levin), steps by peasant's house, was efficiently different than his own, why? ^{selfishness} do it for themselves

they have a point of view, when it's not looking very selfish / don't care, need to harness that selfishness

Sees peasant farm, they do well because of selfishness selfishness = good in farming, good in relationships, mostly in marriage

Tolstoy wants to condemn Anna (kind of), adultery - ☆ Vronsky gives up career, (great things for Anna)

Women have property keeps within marriage (Anna has money) ^{too selfish} too sacrificial ^{↳ to strike anyone, then back} of her own no home, no family, etc.

first 2/3 MI = adultery bad, marriage good → selfish is good, some sacrifice necessary, not all loving, must accept you can't love everybody, marriage is not Christian

Levin with Kitty @ party (Stra setup)

Ⓢ share some core perfect love

Why Anna + Boris is for Levin + Natasha? ^{childish immature}

Levin (Book I) fails at conversation, problem