

showa($a1) vs. print_v($a1) functions

parameters optional

cannot overload function names can pass by value or reference can store function name into variables fopen, fseek, fscanf, fgetc, fgetr

$fp = fopen(<filename>, <mode>);

"w" → write only

"wt" → write/read

"a" & "at" for append

Flocking

flock() prevents multithread error

CGI (Common Gateway Interface) interaction between user and server

- GET

appends user input to URL

Server parses URL

Limited in size

visible to all

only used for retrieval safe & idempotent

- POST

sends data as a stream

not shown in address

NOT safe, NOT idempotent used within HTML forms

.htaccess files

php-value display_errors 1